Nature Friendly Farming Network

Richard Morris

5th January 2018
About Me

▪ 30 years of organic farming
▪ 1000 Hectares
▪ Successful habitat management and conservation
▪ 7 active barn owl boxes
▪ Numerous red and amber status species present including corn bunting and skylark
What is the Nature Friendly Farming Network?

There are many farmers across the UK who choose to farm in sustainable ways that benefit nature. The Nature Friendly Farming Network has been formed to help:

- Share insights and experience with one another
- Raise public awareness of nature friendly farming
- Work together to influence agriculture policy
What is expected of me if I join?

- To do your bit for Nature Friendly Farming
  And that is it... but if you want to do more you could:
  - Share your nature friendly farming stories
  - Hold farm events (for farmers or the public)
  - Possible media opportunities
  - Write to MP’s
  - Input in to policy development
What are the benefits?

- Knowledge sharing
- Training events
- Promotion of your farm via social media
- Grow the benefits of nature beyond your own farm
- Network with like-minded farmers
- Influence policy to better support your farm
- Increased support for sustainable farming
Why I think you should join the NFFN
Why I think you should join the NFFN
We think that food and farming policies should help all British farmers to farm in a way that ensures that:

- Our water and air is clean: All farmers can access support for farming in ways that benefit nature and are rewarded for the public benefits that they deliver in terms of improving the health of our wildlife and landscapes and natural resources.
- Our land will be productive for future generations: A new international trade regime doesn’t expose us to the sort of cut-price competition that will drive farmers towards more harmful ways of farming both land and livestock.
- We can play a major role in helping the UK’s wildlife to recover and thrive: We can play a major role in helping the UK’s wildlife to recover and thrive.
- Our soil can recover: We can play our part in preventing dangerous flooding and tackling climate change.
- We can produce safe healthy food and get a fair price for it
Making a UK Farming Network Work

- The NFFN is a UK wide FARMER led network
- We have a manifesto
- Welcomed and supported by many organisations
- Public support
- We want to hear your views...
Farmers working together, delivering a better countryside

www.nffn.org.uk
Follow us on Twitter: @NFFNUK
Join the conversation on our Facebook Forum: Nature Friendly Farming Network
Why I think you should join the NFFN
Farmers working together, delivering a better countryside

www.nffn.org.uk
Follow us on Twitter: @NFFNUK
Join the conversation on our Facebook Forum: Nature Friendly Farming Network